Program Information

Wound Week™ 2022 is an innovative, unparalleled educational opportunity that will feature superior content delivered by multidisciplinary faculty with true clinical expertise. This conference will allow clinician driven training and education in wound care, vascular and hyperbaric medicine. In addition to education and training, this meeting will offer unmatched clinician networking.

The American Professional Wound Care Association (APWCA) is the Host Society for Wound Week™ 2022. The Education Planning Committee (EPC), under the leadership of the APWCA provided input to create the agenda and determine the content for the preconference and main conference sessions. The EPC also suggested content experts that could be selected to serve as faculty. Special tracks with emphasis on clinically relevant evidence-based practice standards will focus on specific subject matter, with content delivery by content experts.
